

ABEL SIDES - THE LOVE OF THE LAND

INT. - NIGHT - CONTINUOUS.

In the distant country side. A farm house sits in an open field at night. LEON and ABEL sit across from one another at a long wooden table having dinner. It's awkwardly silent as all that can be heard is the knocking of forks unto ceramic plates.

ABEL a burly, muscular man reads the paper as he eats his dinner. LEON, fresh graduate out of university, sits starrng at the food in front of him until he breaks the silence.

LEON

Dad...it's 5 million dollars...

ABEL

(dropping his fork out of impatience)

Leon...

LEON

You know what we could do with
that kind of money?

ABEL

Yes, I'm awar-

LEON

We could fix the roofing, the floors. Brand new house. Brand new truck. 5 brand new trucks. Extend the shed. We could even hire people! so that we don't ever have to bend our backs again.

ABEL

And who told you I had a problem
doing honest work out there?

LEON

Is that what you want to do for the rest of your life? Cause there's no way that's how I'm spending mine.

START SCENE

ABEL

Yes, okay, I'm not saying don't be ambitious, but what? You'll sell out all our hard work to some guy in a silk shirt?

LEON

What do you mean sell out? You didn't even speak to the guy properly! Just hear him ou-

ABEL

(tiredly)

Because that is all people like him have to offer Leon. Money. He's looking out for himself, I can promise you that.

LEON

(resentful)

Why are you so pig headed?

ABEL

(now annoyed at the insults)

Why are you so naïve? Listen to yourself, this stranger talk to you not more than a day and you already buy into what he's selling.

LEON

It just not making any sense. You have land that's been in our family for how much ever donkey years,

(gesturing to the house)

Clearly no one really did anything with it - a man walks up to you and offers you a fortune and a way out of this life and you say no? It seriously stupid...

ABEL

(getting up out of his chair)

Ohhh no no no no. That is what, YOU want! An easy way out of this life and into that one? Hmm? Walk like him, talk like him, world revolves around you? Going on fancy boats? Fancy cars? Throw money at people, and throw money at problems?

ABEL now sits back down into the chair and calms himself a little.

ABEL

(softer with love)

There's more to life than just money Leon.
